WestWeek 'Magic' Sets Stage For Weekend

Elm Creek Vote Due Saturday At Two Polls

Voters in the Elm Creek Watershed will decide Saturday whether or not a $200,000 bond issue endorsed by the Cameron Chamber of Commerce, will be instituted as a first stage of the $5-million project.

Milam County's share of the 63 water structures, ranging in size upto 40-acre lakes, would be 23 or more than one - third of the total, according to E. A. Perrin, Cameron, secretary of the watershed board.

Two polling places will be open Saturday for qualified, property-owning voters in the district; at Yarrelton and Marak.

The watershed would benefit farm and ranch owners in a four-county area -- Bell, Milam, McLennan and Falls Counties -- with emphasis on structures in Bell and Milam County.

The government will provide about five million dollars in assistance and soil Conservation Service personnel in directing the construction of the projects, Perrin noted.

The measure favoring the $200,000 bond issue is expected to carry, Perrin said.

The project is expected to take about five years to complete throughout the estimated 200,000-acre area.

The Elm Creek Watershed would provide control along Elm Creek from a point intersecting Little Elm to the confluence of Elm Creek and Little River near Cameron.

WW Focuses On Special Events

Cameronites became "special attention from miles away. Lincoln events" men early in the week Mondrik, local businessman, with a coon hunt, capture of desbrought in the searchlights and paradoes and old-fashioned tooth a minature pony - driven firepullin'.

The events kept things smoldering until latter week action hit the feverish pitch expected with other stunts promising a "hanging", robberies and group singing.

Chamber and Saddle Club officials said that regular, but undesignated special events will be conducted about 10:30 a. m. Thursday and Friday and a big trial and "hanging" about 2 p. m. Friday, prior to the parade.

Dr. George Bowman, Cameron dentist, tried his best to pull a tooth with veterinarians tools Wednesday morning, to the "dismay" of his patient, Coan Sutter, and to the delight of several hundred onlookers.

Promotional stunts were taking place under bunting - covered downtown businesses and street crossings. Cameron Jaycees put up colorful bunting for the week-long event.

It was a new wrinkle in Western hoopla that was sure to turn attention to more traditional events today and Friday.

The jail had few occupants early this week, since most Cameronites and visitors adapted the "Western code" and wore Western outfits. Practically everyone on city streets carried out the fun and Cameron merchants reported that some Western items were out of stock.

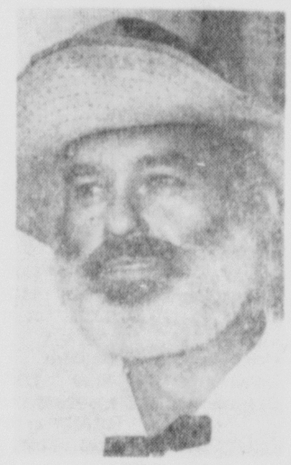

Monday morning Dr. Joe R. Parker, Cameron chiropractor, led a coon dog chase through the city and Tuesday several "desparadoes" were captured on horseback, carried to the Western Week jail at the intersection of Houston and Main Sts.

Of course beards appeared in increasing numbers as Countians began to check into Cameron daily to keep up with developments. Final judging is set at the Western Dance tonight at National Guard Armory.

Everything was building to the biggest shindig this town could remember.

Searchlights beamed over Cameron at night, drawing a bead on low flying clouds and attracting

Parade To Start At 5:30 Friday; Crowd Expected

BY FRANK LUECKE

"It" hasn't caught all the desperadoes as yet, but by Friday night the spirit of Western Week will have captured Central Texas.

Gathering momentum at the gallop, Western Week will climax early week buildups with the traditional Cameron Horse Show Friday and Saturday and a giant parade 5:30 p. m. Friday through downtown Cameron.

Thus far, Cameron has been gathering the reins to "bust" out of a conservative corral to night when a Western dance at National Guard Armory sets the stage for the last two days of Cameron's wildest fling.

Brothers of the brush" will share top billing with Richard Wilkerson's Drifters at the Western whing ding. Judging for the best beard, goatee, mustache and colored beard will take place tonight.

But far and away the biggest events will be the parade and horse shows, the classy gaited show Friday night and the touted quarter - horse competition all day Saturday and Saturday night.

Saddle Club officials rate the field the best yet in first - rate entries from across the Southwest. Major stables of quarterhorse entries are already entered, and a record field beyond the 360 total of last year is in sight.

Seats, for the first time, will be available at the Saddle Club arena in Wilson - Ledbetter Park in South Cameron. Officials said seating for 700 to 1,000 people and much more standing room will be available.

The horse show parade will gather upwards to 12,000 people. Last year a whooping 10,000 saw the two - mile show of surreys, saddle clubs, church wagons, Western floats and bands.

Chamber Manager Jack DuBois said that about 20 to 25 saddle clubs have been invited and most of them will be in the parade.

A grand entry will open gaited show competition at W-L Park which includes 15 classes. Trophies donated by Cameron businesses will go to top winners in both the gaited and quarterhorse events.

The quarterhorse show starts at 8 a. m. Saturday with seven events, followed by seven more 1 p. m. that day and final selection of grand champions Saturday night.

Western wear dominated Cameron dress from the start. In fact, anything not Western appeared suspect. Hundreds of youngsters, sixguns in hand, strode the streets looking for wooden nickels and fun.

Beards Gather Interest, Prizes During W Week

Beards, probably the best publicity gimmick and itchiest possession known to Western Week enthusiasts, came into their own this week.

Every kind of under -(chin)-growth walked the streets of Cameron, ranging from the wooly Dr. Joe Parker's full grey beard (see above) to the slightest mustaches worn by conservative, yet enthusiastic boosters.

One photog found the youngest beardgrower, 13 - year - old Bobby Jones, with a healthy chin growth, while the eldest beard-growing honors probably went to the Rev. A. G. Elley, retired Methodist minister.

Mr. Elley and his two sons, Guss and Louis, are all sporting goatees and mustaches in the biggest family beard competition in Western Week.

But the moment of truth, regardless of age, strength or length of beard, will come when judges will select the top four beard growers tonight at about 10 p. m. at National Guard Armory.

Top prizes for best beard, goatee, mustache and colored beard will be awarded. A large group of "growers" is expected.

A big crowd of Cameron and County people is expected to pack the Armory for the Western Dance and beard contest.

'Ol' 101 With F. M. L.

Early week activities in Cameron's Western Week centered around hundreds of youngsters who donned sixgun and sombrero for the fun.

Common was the scene of a youngster, barely able to see over a counter, pointing toy .45 at a clerk and demanding the magic number of the Wooden Nickel project. Some "held up" people on the streets and threatened to "jail" them in the Western Week Calaboose if they failed to pay a penny fine.

That was a great part of the action Monday and Tuesday. But adults were busy looking around the downtown area, if not for their offspring, for some Western Week action to start.

Momentum of Western Week was beginning to build Wednesday with a promise of a surprise event about 10:30 a. m. on the courthouse lawn. Last year, one of the surprises was a mock trial and lynching.

01 - 101 - 101

A letter from Mrs. James Williams, of Plainview, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Rubac, Rt. 1, Buckholts, contained some pictures of the floodtides in that city in recent weeks.

She enclosed clippings of pictures published in the Plainview paper, which I'm sorry to say, cannot be reproduced in The Herald. But the shots show water, miles and miles of it, axle-deep flooding homes and businesses in that area.

The rains there occurred the same weekend Cameron drew about 9 inches of rain that saved some crops, boosted others and drowned this city for about two hours one afternoon.

It would have been handy that Sunday afternoon if Western Week had been underway. Horses surely would have been better transportation while the gusher hit the town.

Any way you look at it, Cameron is having its share of headlines these days. With the Cameron Saddle Club's horse show to highlight the conclusion of Western Week activities, and literally thousands expected to see the show and parade, this town is jumping.

See you at the corral.

Mondrik To Build Large Supermart

A. J. Mondrik, owner of Mondrik's Minimax, Cameron has announced plans to construct a one-floor, brick supermarket on the 700 block of North Travis Ave.

Plans for the approximate 10,000 square - foot supermarket are being drawn up for final approval, Mondrik said.

The lot is being cleared of a number of large trees this week.

Mondrik has operated a supermarket in Santa Fe Town for many years and will continue to operate his present store after the new building is opened.

Mondrik is planning to incorporate a bakery in the new grocery center. He said that plans call for a four - checkout counter operation.

Paved parking space will be available for 100 cars on the lot. The store will face North Travis (US 77) to the west.

He set no starting date on construction.

Officials To Open NMH Bids Friday

Bids for construction of the proposed Newton Memorial Hospital will be opened 2 p. m. tomorrow at fund drive headquarters, officials noted today.

The bid opening came as contributions and pledges passed the $45,000 mark, just about $5,000 short of the minimum goal set for the Cameron drive.

Bids will be opened for consideration, and letting of the winning bid will be made within the next 30 days, officials reported.

Advisory board officials this week lauded Cameron businesses and individual citizens for their contributions.

And they appealed for last-week consideration of those who have not yet made a donation.

The one - floor, four - wing structure will be built on a location north of the present building, officials said. Allocation of federal funds totaling from $160,000 to $200,000 will be forthcoming upon completion of the Cameron drive and assurance of $60,000 has been made from outside Milam County, officials said.

Total cost of the hospital building itself will be about $250,000 to $300,000, a spokesman said, with additional funds to be spent for equipment inside the new structure

Officials said they wished to remind prospective donors that small donations on pledges payable later are greatly appreciated. A combination of donations from $10 to $1,000 would make the goal, one spokesman pointed out.

Baseball Field Dedicated July 6

A capacity crowd turned out last Wednesday night, July 6 for dedication ceremonies of Cameron's new baseball park.

Wilson praised the workers of the league and all who had part in donations for the field construction. He mentioned how proud every Cameronite should be of the field.

Wilson introduced the league board of directors to the fans present and members of the Women's Auxilary.

Each team was introduced by their managers and team photographs were made.

More Businesses Improving Fronts As Move Widens

Buildings occupied by Gus Plentl Service Station, Helpy-Self Laundry and Brown's Cleaners have been repainted on the outside, proprietors report.

And workmen are dismantling the vacant Weems Gin on E. First St. George Barr has purchased the building and is tearing it down.

Work continues on the new Cameron Bowling Lanes for an August opening. Workmen are installing the last four alleys in the proposed automatic eight - alley establishment. It is operated by the Cameron Columbus Club. Manager for the operation, Doc Spear, is attending a special school for instruction in management of the modern bowling center.

Improvements this week brought to about 25 the total of Cameron businesses joining a widening remodeling and redecorating move throughout the city.

Improvements are ranging from repainting, sanding, streamlining fronts to complete remodeling of interiors and fronts of buildings.

Fifth Milam Road Fatality

Wrecks Kill Iowan, Injure 2

Two Milam accidents left one dead and two critically injured this week.

Dead on arrival at Newton Memorial Hospital early Tuesday was Wallace Harley Thurman, 30, of Cherokee, Iowa, driver of a 1960 Oldsmobile in collision with a semi - truck driven by Luke Matthews Kyle, 37, of Cleveland, Texas.

In serious condition at Newton Hospital is Mrs. Gloria Thurman, wife of the accident fatality. Hospital officials said her injuries were multiple and critical.

Highway Patrolman Jack Straley said Tally's 1950 Buick struck a bridge bannister head on about 8 p. m. Saturday night on US 190 near Branchville. He was alone in the car.

Patrolman Gilbert Smith told The Herald that Thurman's vehicle collided 6 a. m. Tuesday with the Central Freight Lines truck at the intersection of US 77 and SH 36 about three miles southeast of Cameron.

Thurman was driving north on US 77 and Kyle was driving south on SH 36. The left front of both vehicles crashed, flattening the top of Thurman's Oldsmobile. Neither vehicle overturned.

Ambulances rushed Mr. and Mrs. Thurman to the hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival. Kyle escaped injury.

Officials said that one of the vehicles "appeared to have failed to yield right - of - way at a stopped intersection," but did not designate which one. Investigation of the accident was continuing at presstime.

In the Tally accident, officials said that the late evening sun probably blinded the 78-year-old man and caused him to strike the bridge bannister. He was not driving fast, officials noted.

Swine Producers

Profits Depend On Management

By J. D. Moore, County Agent

Recent rains were a big boost to most crops in the county. Most visible beneift is the new life given to the previously handicapped cotton crop. Most of the cotton is the bottom of the stalks. July 10, is the approximate date of most severe bollworm damage to cotton. The bollworm is the same as the corn ear worm. As corn reaches maturity, the corn ear worm moth starts depositing eggs on top of the tender leaves of the terminal bud of the cotton plant. These eggs, if not eaten by beneficial insects, will hatch in 4 to 5 days. About the time these small worms hatch, is the best time for control poisons to be applied. One pound of technical DDT per acre is recommended for best control.

Some cotton will be harvested by the last half of August. Most cotton will be harvested in September.

Maize Harvest was started this week on a moderate scale mostly in the Thorndale area. Most of the county maize crop will be harvested the last half of July. Maize yields will not be as uniformly good this time as compared to past years.

High quality watermelons have started moving out of the Rockdale area. The recent rains were a big help to the melon crop.

The canteloupe crop is about through. An excess of 5,000 bu of canteloupes were lost due to the rains coming at harvest time.

Average Texas Farm Workday Was 10.1 Hours On June 1

COLLEGE STATION — Texas farmers and ranchers had an average workday of 10 hours, 6 minutes on June 1, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

That's a half - hour less than the average for farmers in all states of the nation, more than two hours less than the Wisconsin farm workday, but a full hour more than Nevada and Florida farmers put in.

This was brought out in the farm labor report issued by USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, based on reports from federal - state Crop Reporting Service offices in each state.

The national average was 10.6 hours. Wisconsin led with 12.2 hours, while Nevada and Florida were lowest with 9.1 hours. Colorado farmers averaged 11.2 hours; Kansas 10.9; New Mexico, 10.7; Oklahoma 10.2; Texas 10.1; Arkansas 9.8 and Louisana, 9.3 hours.

Seasonal length of the farm workday has changed very little in this area during the last three years, although a slowness in the crop season was evident in some locations when the June 1 survey was made. The June 1 average for Texas in 1950 was 11.6 hours. In the war year of 1943, it was 12.8 hours.

Weather at this season seems to have little effect on the amount of time the farm operator works, even when he can't be in the fields. The number of seasonal hired workers is more sharply influenced by weather conditions, but the workday length for regular hired help is more consistent, even in undesirable weather.

Mrs. Brod Becomes Member Of ASA

Mrs. Edwin Brod, R. R. 1, Cameron has become a member in the American Shorthorn Association, oldest purebred livestock organization in America.

Purpose of the group is to collect verify and preserve pedigrees of Shorthorn and Polled Shorthorn beef cattle and to promote greater use of the breed.

Shorthorns led the purebred movement to America, the first cargo landing at Virginia in 1783. The breed spread rapidly throughout the country eventually replacing the longhorn cattle on the Western ranges. The polled, or naturally hornless, strain was developed after the Civil War. Shorthorns have received international recognition for improvements in today's beef animals.

Open Door Policy Announced Recently By Marine Corp

The Marine Corps announced an open door policy on enlistments today with no limit on the number of qualified young men to be enlisted, according to Sgt. Claude E. King of the local Marine Corps Recruiting office.

"We're not lowering quality," said Sgt. King, "but just increasing quanity. We can now accept as many young men who can measure up to our standards for immediate enlistment."

Sgt. King said that the Marine Corps could offer assignments with Marine Aviation, Sea Duty or with the ground units. "We're the only service that can offer young men a chance to serve on land, at sea or in the air," said Sgt. King.

"We have over 140 technical schools," said the Marine representative, "That train men for 460 jobs in the Corps."

Sgt. King is located in the Post Office here in Cameron every second Thursday from 2:30 p. m. to 5 p. m. He can be contacted anytime by writing, Box 311 at Austin.

County Agents Notes

What Is Cost Of Producing Beef?

By J. D. Moore, County Agent

The annual cost for producing beef averaged $99 per mother cow according to a recent master's thesis by J. E. Wright. Wright is a graduate student in Farm and Ranch Management in the Agricultural Economics and Sociology Department at A & M College. This thesis was written under the supervision of Dr. Vance Edmondson, Associate Professor, Agricultural Economics and Sociology Department.

The $99 cost included interest on investment, operator's labor, depreciation and all other annual costs. The study shows that the average pounds of beef produced per mother cow was 378 pounds per year. This means that for the operator to break even he must receive slightly above 26 cents per pound for beef produced per cow.

When operator's labor charge is not included the cost is $82 per year. If the operator receives about 21½ cents per pound, he would be covering all costs but would receive nothing for his labor. The 21½ cents per pound would give the operator a good return on investment.

If interest on investment was not included as a charge, it was found that the operator's labor cost, depreciation, and all other costs totaled $65. If the operator received slighly over 17 cents per pound, he would be receiving a fair wage, but not receiving funds to pay for any interest charge that might need to be covered.

When labor and interest on investment costs are not included but depreciation and all other costs are, the total annual cost was $47 per mother cow. This means that over a short period of time he could receive 12½c per pound of beef produced and continue to operate. However, he would be receiving no return for labor and investment. Yet, rather than liquidate the operation this might be the best alternative.

These costs indicate the items and factors that must be considered in operating a beef operation and indicate the importance of constant study of the individual operation and the necessity for good records.

This information is based on research being done by A. C. Magee, Professor, Dr. Vance Edmondson and Bob Stone, Junior Economist, all of the Agricultural Economics and Sociology Department and Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. The study is being conducted in East Texas.

The agents in farm management working with county agents in your district can give you assistance on this type of analysis.

HOBBS REUNION

The annual reunion of the descendants of the W. R. Hobbs family will meet July 24 for their 50th year at the H. A. Hobbs farm on farm - to - market road 619 about 18 miles south of Taylor.

All relatives are urged to be present.

Accidents to farm residents claim more than 11,300 victims and injure about 950,000 persons annually, according to the National Safety Council.

There are more than four times as many accidental deaths in farming than in manufacturing.

Accidents in the farm home kill more than 2,700 and injure nearly 400,000 farm residents each year.

Today's farms are becoming more like small industrial plants and they have some of the same safety needs.

Dennis plans to enter his record book in the Junior Hemstead Improvement Division.

Each have had other projects of swine, poultry and field crops.

The 1960 Sears gilts are doing well. Each gilt hs been wormed at least once and most have been wormed twice.

The recent rains have helped the pastures the gilts are grazing. Clean ground and freeing the gilts of internal parasites are good management practices which are developing the gilts into outstanding breeding swine.

TEXAS LAWMEN

Chas. A. Siringo, the Pinkerton Man

"One hand on a 6-shooter, the law in the other!"

One Texas lawman made his hot pursuit of crime pay off in cold cash. Charles A. Siringo wrote books about it, some of the best sellers of yesteryear. He had many a tall tale to tell.

Born in Matagorda County, 1855, he left home, and school, as quickly as possible for life on the Mississippi. After several round trips from New Orleans to St. Louis, he headed for the West and a cowpony, ranging through Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. At one time Siringo became a Chisholm Traildriver, and was next heard of as a Pinkerton detective. In those days "the Pinkertons" were fast, famous and fearsome — the man-hunters who never failed! And this was, apparently, Siringo's happy hunting ground.

During the next 22 years the Texas rolling stone gathered a fine polish as the relentless nemesis of Southwestern desperados. But — at the height of his renown as a Pinkerton, he abruptly quit, set up as a storekeeper in Kansas and began to write. His best known books were "A Texas Cowboy, or 15 Years on the Hurricane Deck of a Spanish Pony," "A Lone Star Cowboy," "The Cowboy Detective" and "Riata and Spurs."

As Texas lawmen were making this a better place to live, industry and commerce were playing their part, too. And one industry, brewing, was providing enjoyment as well as employment, and the pleasures of moderation as well as revenue for the communities. In Texas "Beer Belongs." Brewers, wholesalers, retailers and the United States Brewers Foundation are working constantly in cooperation with today's lawmen, to assure the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly conditions.

Monroe Doctrine Imperiled

While the United States is wrappe d up in its presidential conventions, Cuba continues to provide the thorniest threat in half a century to the sanctity of the Monroe Doctrine.

True to form, Khrushchev is ranting about rockets in hope of intimidating the U. S. and our handling of the Cuban situation.

Apparently Eisenhower's wait-and-see attitude has been left far behind. The U. S. is pulling the sugar rug from under Castro's feet. And Castro is countering with confiscation of U. S. and other foreign oil refinery holdings.

The next step will be to invoke the Caracas Agreement made in recent years whereby all Western Hemisphere countries condemn establishment of a Communist government in this part of the globe.

Eisenhower must pursue this approach to stifle further criticism of U. S. foreign policy. If he doesn't, we will be accused of continued "softness" in the face of deliberate vilification of the United States.

Khrushchev's threats of long-range rocket attack are apparently designed to delay active U. S. intervention as long as possible. The Cuban President, Osvaldo Dorticos, speaking for the bed-ridden Fidel Castro, offered to repay the U. S. its nominal $3,300 lease on the U. S. Navy base at Guantanamo. His action, accompanied by Castro-like insults against us, would strengthen Cuba's position to provide a likely landing place for Russian ships and submarines. Soviet tankers are already bringing Rusian oil to Cuba for processing in the former-Western refineries.

It seems apparent that the U. S. must determine a course of action or allow the Monroe Doctrine to fall by the wayside.

We face the same decision that Anthony Eden's government faced when Nassar made his move to nationalize the Suez Canal. Khrushchev at that time threatened rocket reprisals and claimed that Britain's demeanor was influenced by his threats. Eden, it will be remembered, fell from favor and left his office on 10 Downing Street a defeated, humble man. And Nassar took the Suez Canal.

Now the Western Hemispheric parallel awaits determination. Shall we allow Castro the grace of forcing us off the island completely, abetted by Russian threats? Or shall we invoke the Monroe Doctrine, forget about public relations for the time and cast out a puppet of World Communism?

The Powers Of President . . .

With presidential nominations in the Democratic party under consideration this week, it is interesting to note some of the facts about the job of U. S. President, his powers and how he is elected.

With age a definite question in the Democratic nomination, at least before the Kennedy steamroller hit Los Angeles, we point out that the President must be 35 years old, and a resident of the U. S. for 14 years.

A simple majority of party delegates nominates presidential candidates in both Democrat and Republican parties with delegates chosen by party primaries or party conventions.

A constitutional amendment limits one man to two consecutive, four-year terms. Prior to the Eisenhower administration, a president could be re-elected as many times as he could win the election. Franklin Roosevelt won four times.

This man-killing, most-sought-after job pays its holder $100,000 a year and an additional $50,000 for expenses, all subject to taxes. A free allowance of $40,000 is provided for the President's travel and entertainment expenses.

The general population polls its votes for a president and vice-president, but in fact is voting for electors of an Electoral College, pledged to one party and its candidates. They follow the majority vote of the state electorate and poll their votes for the top two candidates of their party. It takes 269 electoral votes to win the presidential nomination.

It is interesting to note the steps necessary to elect a president if no candidate receives a majority of electoral votes. The House of Representatives would choose a President from the three highest candidates by voting as states. A majority of 26 is needed to elect. If no candidate receives a majority, the Senate, voting as individuals, chooses from the two top candidates.

With the two-party system prevalent in the U. S., there is little or no possibility that the House would have to act. Only if a third party would present a strong candidate who could split the vote three ways, would the House and Senate undertake a vote.

The ultimate determination of President, according to the National Research Bureau, Inc., grants the nation's leader tremendous powers. He is chief executive of the U. S., having major control over foreign relations, leadership of the armed forces and right to make treaties and international agreements, the former subject to two-thirds approval of the Senate.

A President is also head of the executive branch of government, including 10 departments and numerous agencies of temporary and permanent duration.

Perhaps the greatest power of all is a President's "implied powers" to represent the U. S. in negotiations with other foreign powers and heads of state.

The President of the United States is indeed the most powerful individual in a free society.

Things Are Quiet Around Capital

For one thing, it's the "off season", the hiatus that regularly occurs between state elections and the convening of a new Legislature.

But mostly, for this week, the Austin lull stems from most people's suspensful interest in the activity of Texans in Los Angeles. Gov. Price Daniel, vice chairman of the Texas delegation to the National Democratic Convention, and numerous others have been away for several weeks working in behalf of Sen. Lyndon Johnson's nomination for the presidency.

Despite these distractions, state government goes on. Studies are underway on many subjects, on budgets, tax plans and other future legislation. It's important work but quiet, during this digging and analyzing stage. It'll break into the news next fall as reports are made and trial balloons are run up on bills to be introduced in January.

Surest indication that state government is still on the job is that even now it's hard to find a parking place near the Capitol or the adjoining state office buildings.

During the summer a dozen or so parking slots by the Capitol's east entrance are set aside for tourists. As a rule, tourists don't keep them filled, and Capitol guards are regularly beset by the persuasiveness of local people who need a place "just for a minute."

NO TURNING BACK

Child adoption procedures, under Texas law, are about as final as a thing can be -- more so than marriage or divorce.

Texas Supreme Court underlined this in a recent decision that denied the right to change her mind to a mother who had given written permission for her children to be adopted.

In the case at issue, the mother, a widow, gave written permission for her two children to be adopted. Two months, later, having remarried, she sought to regain the children.

Lower courts held in favor of the natural mother, but the Supreme Court ruled that only fraud could be a basis for revoking of adoption consent.

Said the court opinion of the adoption laws: "The Legislature had the safety, eduction, care and protection of the children uppermost in mind and not primarily the contentment or welfare of either tht natural or adoptive parents."

NO MISUNDERSTANDING

In another ruling involving adoption, the Supreme Court held that an adopted child could not inherit a trust set up for a direct descendant.

As a result, a four - year - old boy lost the chance to c l a i m $830,000.

In the case originating in Dallas, lower courts had upheld the child's claim to the money from his late grandfather's estate.

In his will, the grandfather had instructed that the $830,000 trust be set up if "any child of my son is born after my death." High court ruled that this made it highly unlikely that the maker of the will intended the money to go to a child born to persons other than his son and daughter - in - law.

ROAD CLOSED

If Texas' truck licensing law had a loophole you could drive a truck through, the State Supreme Court has, in effect, halted the traffic.

High court ruled that a motor freight line cannot register and pay license fees on its trucks in Texas and use Mississippi licenses on its trailers. Texas' fee for a truck trailer is $226 compared to $10 in Mississippi.

High court ruled that if the truck Lines resident in Texas, it must pay the Texas fee for the trailers, even if it pays in Mississipp, too. Result: $20,000 more taxes owned by the line in license fees to the State Highway Department.

LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER

Two Changes Of Administration Needed Before Next Summer Meet

Dear editar:

Earlier this week while I was sitting around waiting for the Democratic National Convention to warm up on television - I had some work to do but I figured national affairs came first, especially if you can attend to them while sitting in a soft chair inside your house -- I got to thinking not only about national affairs but international affairs too. A man who can't do two things at the same time hasn't got a chance in this modern fast - moving world.

As I understand it, Mr. Khruschev over in Russia is keeping a close tab on the Presidential election in the United States this year, as he had said he's not interested in holding another summit meeting until there's a change of administration over here.

Naturally I don't know who the next President will be, only the public poll takers know that and half the time the man they know is going to get elected never takes office, I guess because not enough voters believed the polls, but at any rate, whoever he is, I have a proposal for him.

What he ought to do is inform the Russian people he'd like to hold a summit meeting but he believes he'll wait till there's a change of administration in Russia. Attending a summit meeting with Mr. Khruschev is like playing baseball with a crooked umpire, who lets one side walk on three balls and calls the other side out on two strikes, and if that doesn't win the game, has his side pick up their gear and walk off the diamond.

Now I can't tell the next President when the next change in Administration in Russia will occur, but it will occur.

Despite all their scientific achievements, the Russians have never gotten around to postponing the life of a dictator indefinitely. If his best friend doesn't get him, old age will.

It's entirely possible the United States can get along without a Russian summit conference a n d Cuban sugar for a good while.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Outdoors In Texas . . .

Nature Important To Outdoorsmen

As an outdoorsman you should learn all you can regarding mother nature - -especially how she provides for you, as well as for the game you love.

I enjoy our modern frozen foods and mechanical gadgets just as much as the next fellow. But I think it is good to know how the Indians and the early pioneers survived without these conveniences.

Having nothing but what mother nature provided, our predecessors survived because of their knowledge and ingenuity in using what they had.

Each animal, plant, shrub, tree, bird, grass, or what-have - you, had its own place in nature. But most of them can be put to some extra use, to serve man — if he knows, or can discover how to use it.

Generally this discovery comes about as a matter of necessity. However, the factor of necessity seldom arises in our modern day world. Nevertheless, it's still good to retain part of this knowledge, even today.

Many camping families, boy scout groups, the Armed Forces, etc., attempt to learn what they can about survival, dependant upon mother nature. I have yet to hear anyone who studied it say that he had been wasting his time.

Lets just look at one, often abused and criticized product of mother nature, that abounds throughout Texas. Let's see what she has performed in the way of survival for man.

The s m a l l , misshappen, little mesquite tree has been scoffed at by tourists in Texas for many years. Yet Texas owes a great deal to this determined and useful projections of love from mother nature.

In the early days of Texas, when its population was composed of Indians, Mexicans and early white settlers, the mesquite tree was the present suburban shopping center.

This little sprig of life provided so much for the existance of these people that I am surprised that Texas hasn't erected a mosquite tree statue in undying admiration for this so often abused creation of nature.

The mesquite tree was perhaps the prime heat supply of our early day people, as it provided kindling for both heating and cooking.

The oft-eaten barbecue of today started with meat prepared over the wood from mesquite trees. This wood imparts a flavor to the meat that is relished by many barbecue experts of today.

The delicate leaves of the mesquite were, and sometimes still are, placed in men's hats — to keep the head cooler in hot weather.

Mesquite tree leaves often were used as poultices, as were the leaves of many other plants and trees.

Household bleaches of today may be better, but the earlier Texas inhabitants were quite pleased with the results of boiling mesquite tree leaves with their clothes to make the apparel white.

The mesquite bean, that hangs in long slender pods from the tree, also found many uses. The beans were ground between stones. The result — Ole — was flour.

This was a potent and variously used flour. It made a tasty and energy - providing bread, even now enjoyed by some. The uncooked dough was beginning of the now famous tortillas and tomales.

If you mixed this mesquite bean flour with water you could have a choice of two useful products - a stomach medicine or a potent liquor. Could be that old-timers needed both at the same time.

Lastly, we come down to the root of the tree itself. Roots were boiled into a stomach and bowel medicine (undoubtedly never patented) and an excellent dressing for wounds.

You could forecast your planting by this tree, too. It never freezes after the buds appear and I hear tell that a very cold winter is always forecast by an extra large crop of mesquite beans.

Now, don't you agree that we've abused this tree? That we've treated it unfairly?

'Old Folks' Win Over Youngsters

Baseball Officials Topple BR League Team Wed., 9-2

Who said this young generation is ahead of the old folks. The facts appeared a little different as Summer baseball officials toppled a younger Babe Ruth league all-star team, 9-2 at Cameron Field last Wednesday.

The game was the first to be played on the newly constructed diamond following dedication ceremonies.

Bassel Wilson supplied the chief punch of the night. He pulled a stunt similar to one Hubert Nance tried in the Lions Club - Ladies Auxilary game. Wilson walloped a line drive through the infield and took off for 1st base only to fall face down in the dirt ten feet from home plate. To top it off, the former Cameron mayor had a most difficult time of regaining his feet and was thrown out at first.

Tom Boyd was the snappest fielder of the night, shagging fly balls in left field in basket catches. Lavert "Willie Mays" McKinney made the most spectacular catch of the night on a fly ball hit by Earl McGoldrick. McKinney came very close to toppling head over heels in pursuit of the ball and finally snagged it, though spectators wondered how.

Chester Simons got the edge over his son, Chester Jr. Simons swung at a third strike and missed, only for little Chester, playing catcher, to drop the ball and throw wild to first, allowing dad to reach base safely and then trot all the way to third untouched.
